

INTRODUCTION AND CLOSING FOR Explorers in Cyberspace

Good morning/afternoon. Welcome to this special program about being safe in cyberspace. This program is put on by RESPECT- an organization dedicated to teaching students how to have healthy relationships and be respectful of themselves and of others. We are going to see a play called Explorers in Cyberspace.

This play will help you learn more about how to handle some of the hidden dangers in cyberspace, especially what to do if you come across inappropriate content and how important it is to keep your private information private! And along the way, you may learn a thing or two about the Lewis and Clark expedition. When the play is over there will be time for you to ask questions and share your thoughts. And please remember, if anything in the play brings up any strong emotions in you, talk to a trusted adult right away.

We would like to thank _____ [See your invoice for specific funding sources] for the financial support that made this presentation possible.

Right now, let's respectfully watch Explorers in Cyberspace.

CLOSING REMARKS FROM STAFF/ADMINISTRATOR

(After conclusion of discussion with Actor-Educators)

- 1 Ask an adult known to the students to share a brief example or personal experience that shows the importance of keeping private information private or coming across unwanted content while online.
- 2 Remind students of the rules about internet use at their school.
- 3 Remind students who can help them at their school with any problems they may have in cyberspace, at school or at home.
- 4 Say thanks to those who helped sponsor/fund the program.

(See your invoice for specific funding sources)